6. RIGHTS OF DATA SUBJECTS AND HOW TO EXERCISE THEM

6.1. The Participant has the right to access the information in relation with the data processing related to him/her defined in Article 15 of the GDPR (right of access), including in particular, information by the University about

- the types of personal data,
- the purpose and legal ground,
- the source,
- the duration of the processing or the criteria for determining the duration,
- who, when, on what legal basis, to which personal data was granted access to by the University or to whom did it transfer the data,
- the rights and possible legal remedies of the data subject during the data processing.

6.2. The Participant shall have the right to rectification of inaccurate (false or incomplete) personal data concerning him or her pursuant to Article 16 of the GDPR. (right to rectification)

6.3. According to Article 17 of the GDPR, the data subject have the right to erasure (‘right to be forgotten’), if

- the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed;

- the data subject withdraws consent on which the data processing is based and there is no other legal ground for the data processing;
- the data subject successfully objected against the processing of the data pursuant to point 6.7;
- the personal data have been unlawfully processed;
- the personal data have to be erased for compliance with a legal obligation;

The data will not be erased if the data processing is necessary:

- for compliance with a legal obligation which requires the data processing or to which the controller is subject or for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller;
- for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims;
- for exercising the right of freedom of expression and information
- for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes in so far as practicing the right to erasure is likely to render impossible or seriously impair the achievement of the objectives of that data processing

6.4. According to Article 18 of the GDPR, the data subject has the right to restriction of processing (right to restriction), if

- the accuracy of the personal data is contested by the data subject, for a period enabling the University to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- the data subject has objected to the processing pursuant to point 6.7; in this case, the restriction shall apply for the period until it is established whether the University upholds the objection.
- the processing is unlawful, and the data subject opposes the erasure of the personal data and requests the restriction of their use instead;
- the University no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but they are required by the data subject for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims;

Where processing has been restricted, such personal data shall, with the exception of storage, only be processed with the data subject's consent or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person or for reasons of important public interest of the Union or of a Member State.

6.5. According to GDPR Article 7 (3), the data subject shall have the right to withdraw his or her consent at any time (right to withdraw the consent). The withdrawal must be made in writing or in the form in which the consent was given. The withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

6.6. In the case of automated (electronic) processing based on consent or for the performance of a contract, the data subject has the right to receive personal data relating to him or her, provided by him or her in a commonly used electronic format or to request the University to transfer the data to another controller, as provided for in Article 20 of the General Data Protection Regulation (right to data portability).

6.7. The data subject shall have the right to object (right to object), on grounds relating to his or her particular situation, at any time to processing of personal data concerning him or her which is based on balance of interest, or necessary for a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority (the right to object). According to Article 21 of the GDPR, the University shall no longer process the personal data unless it demonstrates compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests, rights and freedoms of the data subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

6.8. The data subject can exercise his or her rights free of charge via the contact person or the data protection officer listed in point 1. The exercise of the data subject's rights may in most cases require the identification of the data subject, while in some cases (e.g. the exercise of the right to rectification) additional information may be required. The application for the exercise of the rights of the data subject shall be assessed by the University within one month at the latest. If necessary, taking into account the complexity of the application and the number of applications, this period may be extended by a further two months, the extension being notified to the person concerned within 1 month.
